Extracts from a letter written to Annie Packard Bullis from Fayette Skiff at Kinderhook N. Y.
Jan. 30-1900. It tells of the old neighborhood in Chatham Twp. Columbia Co. New York where the Lyon families lived in an early day.
Some of them came west as early as 1837 and some stayed in New York. Fayette Skiff's mother was my mother's sister Estelle Lyon Skiff wife of Rozelle S.
Fayette, his wife Jodie, Jodie's niece Josephine Dodge (S-) and his mother went to this locality in the winter of 1899-1900 to look up Lyon history. Fayette looked up history; the others visited friends and relatives.

Beginning of quote from Fayette's letter
"What Lyons there are live near Old Chatham and here is a map from Albany to Rensselaer?"

(Map two or three pages further on with explanations.)

Quote.

Susan (Thorn) Waldo lives at Old Chatham. She is a ^{grand} daughter of Abigail Adie who a sister of your mother's grand father."
a sister of Thomas (I generation)
Susan was Gen. VII

"At Rayville live Henry Thorn, Susan's brother, and John Finch whose grand mother was Polly (Lyon) Finch. He is the fifth generation of Finches that have lived on the place.

Two miles east of John Finch's live Frank Barnes grandson of Clarissa (Lyon) Barnes, on the Barnes place and Susan (Gale) Ashby daughter of Susan Lyon Gale on the Gale place "Gale Hill" Gale Hill is about the highest point in the county. I went to the highest point and could look off to the Catskill Mts. on the east and the Catskills on the west away across the Hudson. It was a grand view. Susan (Gale) Ashby is 78 years old and lives all alone in the old Gale house built for a family of twelve children. Her husband is dead, also a son is dead and she lives on the 200 acre farm and economizes and saves and depends on renters for working the farm. She is not so tall as Mrs. Dillon (a neighbor of Skiff and Packards) but is as fat. She is a nice old lady.

It was quite satisfactory to visit these few of Grandfather's relatives and also very satisfactory to visit the immediate neighborhood where Grandfather (David) and his father (Thomas) lived.

Now I am at George Hoag's. She is Wesley Lyon's daughter.
They manufacture fancy knit goods and are well off!"

"I am glad you have a daughter to gladden your heart. I long to see you and your family. I hope, you must not have the 'big head' though.
I fear I should have."

End of quote of Trickett's letter.

The letter came when the little daughter (Bernie) was six weeks old and in the worst of her seizure of whooping cough. I must have sent the letter to mother to read for I found it in her things in 1953. Alice Phillips has the letter.
This is written in July 1954. Annie P. Bullis

Explanation of Maps ~~off~~ ^(NEXT PAGE)

1. Thomas Lyon's house, large yellow, now standing.
2. Where his barn was.
3. Where his peach orchard was.
4. Where his store was.
5. Uncle Isaac's house, where he lived when he moved west. The store building has been moved away. It stood just east of his house.
6. Quaker meeting-house. Where Sarah and David were probably married, and where they went to meeting.
7. Capt. Uriel Coffin's house, now a good looking white house. Isaac Lyon married Capt. Coffin's daughter, Eunice. Back of this house flows the brook, and I have often heard Grandmother (Sarah Wilbur Lyon) say that she and her mother lived in the back yard until she (Sarah) was married.
8. Where Grandfather and Grandmother lived after they were married. The old cellar is still there, and the lilac bushes still grow along the fence. It is about 20 rods from his father's store.
9. Where the spring was, but is not now.
10. Should be a mile east, and is the place where Thomas Lyon first lived.

Origin of the Lyon family.

From Elsie's notes.

Research has confirmed what was a tradition that our ancestors came from France.

Lyon-la-Tour, a village near the city of Rouen near the Seine River and the Distr. of Lyons was given to the Lyon family. 690 inhabitants surrounded the castle. The castle is now in ruins.

In 1066, at time of the Norman conquest, the Lord of Lyons went to England with William the Conqueror to aid him.

It is presumed that he remained in England and made his estate there but retained possession of his French holdings.

Lyon family lived ⁱⁿ England some working fishing. Different branches lived in North & South Eng.

In early colonial times there were three Lyon families, those of William, Peter, and Geo. Richard and Henry of Fairfield Conn may have been others of Thomas.

I Our ancestor Thomas Lyon was born in England 1421, came to America in 1636, He married Martha Johanna Winthrop, granddaughter of Gov. Winthrop. Lyon took gives many of her letters to her father and grandfather. She was an invalid and had but two children. In one letter she says "For my husband's part he does do, what he can for me and I am sorry he should suffer so much for me for he drinks water that I might drink beer, eat butter that I might eat wheat and farshard and works hard that I might not suffer." This always amused Eli about the beer being better than water.

His second wife (our ancestor) Mary Hoyt Lyon was the mother of his four sons and four daughters. Sons were John Thomas, Samuel & Joseph.

Thomas had moved across the Rye River from Port Chester N. York to Greenwich Conn. He died here in 1690 and his son Thomas was born here 1678.

II Thomas Lyon 2nd

born at Greenwich Conn. 1678,
 This Thomas built the house in 1700 which was still standing in 1900. It had been owned and occupied by Lyons for the 200 years.
 At the time Triggitt was there Underhill Lyon and his only child, a daughter, lived there.

Thomas married Abigail Egden.
 They had 11 children and the youngest Gilbert inherited the homestead.
 His descendants occupying down to John Lyon Saunders who must have sold the home instead that it might be moved to the Boston-Milton post road and used as an information bureau.

Thomas was a rich man. His gold headed cane went to a son Thomas and then to a Thomas in our line.

III Generation

Jonathan born June 1, 1704 in the old homestead in Conn. He married Elizabeth Mead (born Apr. 5th 1703-9. She was still living date of husband's will April 2, 1783.

Jonathan moved to North Castle N.Y. where he died in 1786.

He left his son David 150 pounds English ^{sterling}.

II Gen.

Here at North Castle N.Y.

David Lyon was born May 25, 1741.

He married Melrose Foxworth (1744)

They belonged to the Society of Friends. Some say he would not fight on either side. But did hospital work. How say he was a Captain. However it seems to agree that he was taken prisoner died (of smallpox perhaps) and was thrown in to the sea on the out going tide ^{Sept. 6, 1783} (Still from far off) his family suffered severely from deprivations incident to war.

Once a daughter wasbidden to aid out to dress his hair. She kept his weapons from his belt and marched him off to an American force who took him prisoner. So the story goes.

(1949) Later I learn from other sources that this David was Captain under Colonel McDougal. This old "sugar house" seems to have been a famous prison. See William Penn notes. David's wife Tree Love lived to be 77. She died in 1821

IV Generation.

Thomas Lyon born at Northville
New York, May 31 1766.

He died at Lyons, Wis. Sept. 28 1847

He was buried in the "Old Dale" burying ground in sight of the Mill pond and his son David's home.

His wife was Benjamin Valentine who was born Aug. 1, 1765. Died at Chatham Town Center, N.Y. June 26 - 1834

Thomas Lyon, after the war, moved to Nine Partners some miles from Ston-ford village near Elmerston Lyon, his uncle in Dutchess Co.

~~Captain Henry C. Lyon Palace.~~

They seem to move north by stages.
Later they moved to Chatham Town Center. There brought up his family by 7 children.

Thomas enlisted from Ridgebury County served 7 mos. In 1832 he applied for a pension and it was granted.
Thomas was a Quaker and his wife a Methodist.

Thomas was 17 when his father died (1783) trying to serve his country. These circumstances urged him on to enlist ^{some} in his country.

Thomas Lyon^{F.} had a sister
 Abigail, who married a man

 Susan (Thorne) Waldo, living in Chatham when Fayette Skiff wrote the letters of his visit to Chatham Vicinity.

Ruhamah Berry, born under unfortunate circumstances, was brought up by her grandparents. Her mother died early. Ruhamah had 17 days schooling so the story goes. Her grand parents were poor people. Robert Judson Wilbur was named for Robert Judson Grey.

Both Ruhamah's husband and son died of small pox. Sarah was born in Dutchess Co. N. Y. and the widow and daughter lived there some years. In those years people lived from their gardens and every one had a loom and some earned money with the loom and in many ways. At least they eked out a living. In time of the war of 1812 They were living in Columbia Co. N. Y. and Sarah went to Hudson and wove corduroy for the soldiers. It was in this county near or in Chatham-four-corners that Sarah and David were married in double wedding with Isaac & Eunice. Eunice father, Captain Coffin, had a fine large house and the widow Wilbur and her daughter had a little cottage around back in C. Coffin's yard. Sarah and Eunice were great friends. I like to tell that Isaac said "I go up 'Cappin' Coffin's steps and David goes a-round to the cottage". However Sarah was a handsome girl and Eunice's equal in every way. Sarah had some schooling, read her bible, wrote a good hand. She was a fine woman, kind wise and refined. (Read Trayettes letter to Elsie^{P. 47}) Grandmother Wilbur lived with David and Sarah the rest of her life. She died two months before ^{my} father and mother (Chas. & Lovina) were married.

The chest that Elsie gave Lovina (without drawer) dates back to grandmother Wilbur's time. They came before the bureaus or chest of drawers as they were sometimes called. Lovina's has hand made hinges. It has traveled all the way from Dutchess Co. ^{N. Y.} (Poughkeepsie) to Iowa Falls. They tell that Ruhamah took some butter milk and red ocre mixed it up and painted the chest with her hand for the lack of a brush. We think the same red paint is on where Lovina left it on top when she did some finishing of the rest of the surface. The chest has hand made hinges.

Aunt Sophia left some things with Sarah Lyon and Eliza, when Uncle Tommy died on the ^{plains enroute} gold fields, to the gold fields, in 1850; among these things were the hand-woven coverlid! Sarah kept it, carefully, handed it down to Lovina, who cherished it, and in turn, gave it into the keeping of her daughter, Annie, who added reverence to its care, and now it is Donna's turn to have it.

Lyon House built in 1700.

This is a copy of what Vayette Skiff wrote on the back of my picture on opposite page.

"The house stands on the ^{ground} where the house in which Thomas Lyon, who came from England, lived at the time of his death. The house was probably built by Thomas Lyon II. Jonathan Lyon was born here and moved to Westchester Co. N.Y. He was grandfather's great-grandfather. This house faces the south the gable to the east. Just west of this house is Byram river that separates N. York from Connecticut. Just across the river is Port Chester that used to be called Saw Pits. The road south of the house leads across the famous Byram Bridge. In crossing over into Conn. from Port Chester N.Y. the house can be seen from the bridge only a short distance from the bridge. At last accounts (1900) Underhill Lyon and his only child, a daughter, were living there. He is a direct descendent of the first Thomas I. and the house has been continually in the possession of this line of the Lyon family. Just east of it I saw the ruins of John Banks' house that had burned. John Banks is said to have come from England at the same time as Thomas I."

This is taken from a newspaper clipping.

Greenwich Conn. Feb. 3, 1927

"New England is setting up an outstanding example of beauty and history as a national highway marker to oppose the prevalent reign of hot-dog signs on motor roads."

The marker is this house built by Thomas Lyon in 1700 (227 yrs old) and is to be moved to post road and remodeled to serve as information bureau. This type immediately succeeded old log cabins. Walls of hand cut shingles, hand wrought hardware, large fire places with chimney ovens, corner cupboards, and supporting beams that show the mark of the ax.

It will stand at "Gateway to New England" on Boston-New York post-road.

From Fayette to Elsie: 1924

The following is copied from a letter of Fayette Shiffs to Elsie P. Bullis (date) Oct 15, 1924 answering some questions she must have asked.

Fayette visited through these places in New York hunting Lyon genealogy in the winter of 1899-1900.

quote Chatham is a city but Chatham Town Corners is only a name now, no post office. Thomas Lyon's empty two story house and store building stands on one of the four corners. The porch arches on the other side is no more.

Just north of this ~~Corners~~ ^{building} a quarter of a mile is where David and Sarah Lyon commenced keeping house. Less than half a mile west over a hill is where our grandmother lived in a little cottage back of Captain Coffin's fine house.

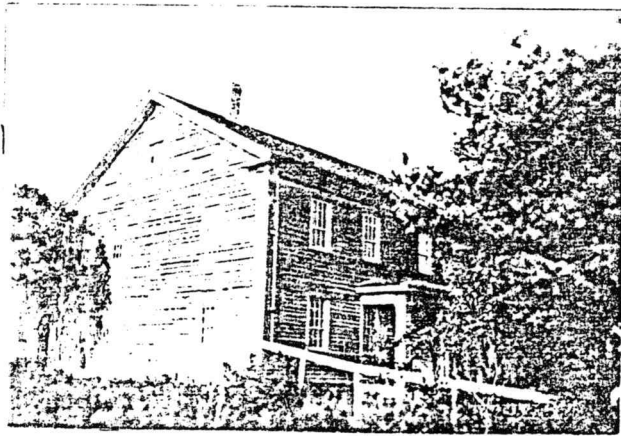

Captain Coffin's house in 1900 was still a fine looking farm house. Over N. West of here probably four miles is Rayville where Uncle Harris' store was and the Friends meeting house. The town is named for David Ray, the active Hicksite, who so opposed the Guernseyites, of whom grandfather was one. Feeling ran high then.

Lebanon, over farther east where the Kirbys lived was a beautiful township, seemed to have a charm in my eyes.

How I should like, again, to stand where I did in Dec. 1897 and look out over the beautiful Township of Lebanon with the white farm houses dotting the hills, also to look west even as far as across the Hudson and see the blue-tinted Catskills in the distance.

I went to the Barnes and Gale houses. Frank Barnes was living on the old homestead and Susan Gale on her father's farm. She was alone in the house with its eleven made up post beds. It was from the attic window here that the view across the Hudson was so beautiful. The house is up on high ground from which the surrounding country can be seen.
